Description

Overview

The Parting Tool Holders are precision-engineered lathe accessories designed to securely hold parting and cut-off blades during parting, grooving, and cut-off operations. They provide rigid blade support and accurate positioning, helping reduce vibration and ensuring clean, consistent cuts. Parting tool holders are available in different shank sizes and configurations to suit various lathe machines and cutting blades.

Common Uses

The Banka Parting Tool Holders are widely used for securely holding parting and cut-off blades during parting, grooving, and bar separation operations on conventional lathes and CNC turning machines. They are essential accessories for machine shops, CNC machining centers, production workshops, tool rooms, automotive industries, fabrication units, and precision engineering facilities, where rigid tool holding, accurate blade positioning, reduced vibration, and clean cutting performance are essential for efficient and high-quality machining.
